CITY GETS WATER FROM NEW PUMP

Monster Outfit, Just Installed, Furnishes Entire Supply Days.

Janesville's entire water supply days is now being pumped by the huge 8,000,000 gallon Murray pump just installed in the new addition at the water plant, South River street, below Racine street bridge. The new outfit is being used throughout the day while the old 4,000,000 gallon pump is run at night when the other one is shut down.

It is the first time since its installation several years ago that the old pump has been shut down for a half day at a time. Up to the present it had to be operated almost continuously to keep the city supplied with water. The two old 4,000,000 gallon pumps are held in reserve in case of fire.

"We are running the new pump at the rate of about 5,000,000 gallons," said H. J. Griffin, the official in charge of the plant. "The old test of it will not be made until later. A new pump—like a pair of new shoes or a new car—has to be broken in carefully."

While the demands at the present time do not warrant operation of the new outfit up to full capacity, the plant is now equipped so that when the city begins to grow again as it did in 1910 and the early part of 1920, it will be able to furnish the additional supply easily.

Janesville can now boast a pumping outfit the equal of that in any city up to 40,000 and 50,000 population.

Frame Garages Are Banned by State Ruling

Old frame buildings cannot be remodeled into garages to house more than two cars without violating the provisions of a new law. According to notices being sent out by Building Inspector J. J. Blair, the industrial commission is also sending out a circular letter to all garage owners and automobile dealers advising them of the requirements as to public garages.

Complete plans and specifications for every new or remodeled building to house more than two automobiles must be submitted to the industrial commission except in cities having their own building inspectors. The commission advises where additions are built to old frame garages, such additions must be separated from the part by standard fire walls.

Lives Through 2,300-Volt Shock

Monroe—John Milligan 46, an employee of the Monroe Electric company, was struck by a 2,300 volt line while repairing the line. This ordinarily proves fatal. Milligan lost consciousness but when the current was turned off, was able to climb down unassisted.

FATHER IN MARINES, MOTHER IN WALES—BOY GETS NEW HOME

While Master Sidney Stahl confined his attention to an ice cream cone, District Attorney S. G. Dunne and Judge John Stark in the Beloit circuit court were deciding the lad's fate. Master Stahl is just two years old and was unimpaired of the weighty problems relating to his future which the Beloit court Thursday afternoon.

The boy's father was a marine and his mother is now a patient at the tuberculosis sanatorium at Wales. The father, Forest W. Stahl, is alleged to have failed to keep his agreement to support the child and deserted the mother in her time of serious stress and illness.

It was given by the Red Cross but it could not go on forever. The youth was being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Short, 1540 Prairie avenue, Beloit.

Just when the papers were being prepared to send Master Stahl to the children's home in Sparta, the Short family decided to adopt him. This was agreed to by the mother.

So Master Forest Sidney Stahl went to his new parents and more ice cream cones, and the court, attorneys and the charity association investigators appeared satisfied.

HOT WEATHER DON'TS FOR HORSE OWNERS, BY HUMANE SOCIETY

"Don't forget your horse is your friend and faithful servant. This caution is sent out by the Humane society with the following 'don'ts' regarding the care of horses during the hot weather:

Don't drive fast. The few minutes you save may cost you a horse.

Don't put on heavy loads.

Don't let your horse stand in the sun even if he has to stand for only a few minutes, pick-out a shady place.

Don't fail to water your horse as often as possible, but don't let him overdrink.

If you use a sponge or cloth see that it is kept wet.

Don't use a horse hat unless it has a canopy top. The ordinary kind is worse than none.

Don't keep a horse in a hot stable at night. Wipe him with a damp sponge and let him cool off.

Don't use the whip. Let the horse take his own pace.

New Fruits and Vegetables on Market in City

Blackberries, apricots, new apples and summer squash have put in an appearance at the local markets for the first time this season, while the apples, plums, cherries and watermelons are still in the running, with raspberries poorer than usual.

The blackberries for 25 and 27 cents per quart box, the apricots, 25 to 30 cents per dozen, the plums, 15 to 20 cents per dozen, depending on size. The new apples, the "transparent" variety, are selling high, 15 cents per pound, while the summer squash, 5 and 8 cents each, the size varying. The price on plums, remains at 25 cents each, and on California cherries at 45 and 50 cents per pound. Peaches sell for 20 cents per medium sized basket, while there are different prices on plums. Reds sell for 25 cents per dozen, blue for 20 and 25 cents, and yellow for 20 cents. They are large and at their best this time of year.

Watermelons continue to improve in quality and now sell for 10, 12 and 20 cents each. Honeydew melons arrived some time ago, selling for 50 cents each. The price of watermelons remains the same all summer, there being no market on them.

Raspberries Poor. The raspberry crop seems to have failed as the strawberry crop did, according to the number of berries in the city. In many stores there are none, while in others the few that are shipped in are quickly sold. Where they can be obtained the price on the local variety is 17 cents and on the red, 25 cents.

Watermelons were received at some of the stores Friday morning, the price on them being 10 and 12 cents each. Little change over the price of the last three weeks. Oranges, selling for 40, 50 and 60 cents per dozen, and lemons, selling for 50 and 60 cents, a boost over last week's price, complete the list of items on the fruit market.

The drought that was experienced for so long a time had its effect on the vegetable market. Radishes, beets and carrots were not good and peas became hard. No radishes can be obtained in many of the stores. Peas sell for 10 and 12 cents per pound where they can be purchased. Potatoes are in short supply and the price is high. The price of a 10 cent variety is now 15 cents per bushel, and the 12 cent variety is 20 cents per bushel. New cabbage has also put in an appearance, selling for the same price as the old, 7 cents per pound.

Other "Garden News." Asparagus is selling at 15 cents per bunch, dry onions, 4 pounds for 25 cents, green onions at 5 cents per bunch, carrots and beets from 7 to 10 and 12 cents per bunch. Cucumbers, 10, 12 and 15 cents, depending on size and variety. Cider, 10 cents per quart; peppers, green and red, 5 and 6 cents each; tomatoes, 25 cents per pound; green beans, 10 and 12 cents; and wax beans, 10 cents; head lettuce 20 cents per head; leaf lettuce, 20 and 25 cents per pound; radishes 5 cents.

The price on eggs still hovers around 30 cents per dozen, remaining fairly uniform at all the stores, while there is a great variety in butter, the price ranging from 35 and 36 cents per pound to 40 and 45 cents.

SUES ON CONTRACT TO BUY GARAGE RAZED BY FIRE

George E. Wolfe started suit against Edward L. Bellman in the Rock county circuit court on Friday, demanding $5,000 and interest on a real estate contract. Both are from Evansville.

The suit is based on an alleged lease and option to purchase the land formerly occupied by the garage burned down in Evansville May 27, 1920. Demand is made to surrender to the plaintiff all rights and interests of the lease, the option to purchase and in addition $5,000 with interest from July 6, 1920.

THEY WILL WED. Application for marriage license was made Friday by R. Allen China, Sharon, and Ida L. Merrill, Beloit.

LIVESTOCK RELIEF FUND READY SOON

$50,000,000 Pool in Operation in Two Weeks Is Announcement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago. The $50,000,000 pool, formed by bankers for the relief of the livestock industry, will be in operation in two weeks, it was announced Friday, following a conference at which a satisfactory plan was made for redemptive livestock paper at Federal reserve banks.

The plan, approved by the Federal reserve board, provides redemption of original cattle paper in lieu of making eligible participation certificates representing loans made by the pool, which bankers expected as settling a dangerous precedent.

The original cattle paper, reduced from two years to six months, is eligible for discount under the Federal reserve law. The banks plan to renew the loans several times. The paper will be deposited with the Chicago reserve bank and allocated when discount is desired by a member bank. Applications for loans in excess of $1,000,000 already have been received.

HEAVY EXPENSES JOLT INCOME OF BADGER BUSINESS

Madison—Scarcely half of the 13,000 corporations operating in Wisconsin had any income last year, according to tax commission figures which show that 6,200 of these companies paid an income tax.

A falling off in the number of paying corporations is anticipated for this year, although it is not expected to be marked. Individual income taxes are collected by local assessors in each county.

The commission at present is working on corporation taxes for next year, finding that a drop of 29 per cent for 1921 in the amount of income tax is to be looked for, while the drop in 1922 is expected to be 35 per cent. Two new accounts are being trained for field work inspecting books of corporations to locate unreported income. One accountant last year returned over $1,300,000 in unreported taxes through his efforts.

Howat, Dorchy Get Jail Term

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Columbus, Kan.—Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, president and vice president of the Kansas miners' union, were sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay fines of $500, by Judge Frank W. Ross in the Cherokee county district court here Friday.

Howat and Dorchy were convicted last week of violation of the Kansas industrial law.

MAN IN JAIL HERE FOR CARRYING BOOZE

Henry Hartmann, Winona, Minn., is the first person in Rock county of the new Blaine prohibition law. He will either stay 90 days in the Rock county jail or pay a fine of $250.

Hartmann went to the Beloit jail for a night's lodging. At many police stations "toppers" are required to turn over belongings to the desk sergeant before going into the "bull pen" for a bunk. The Minnesota man made a serious mistake, for he had part of a bottle of moonshine on his person and the Beloit police found it.

When Hartmann had finished his night's sleep he was escorted up to the court room on a complaint under the new prohibition law charged with having liquor in his possession. He pleaded guilty and elected to serve the sentence in jail.

Catch Thieves Stealing Cycle

Elkhorn—A son of George Barr, Richmond, left his motorcycle beside the road, temporarily. An Illinois auto came along and its occupants had just finished loading the motorcycle into their car when Barr and some neighbors appeared on the scene. At first the thieves refused to give up the stolen machine, but at last they relented and handed it over to the owner. It found the thieves will be haled into court.

Italian Shopkeepers Still Charging Sky-High Prices

Rome—The struggle between buyers and sellers still continues in Italy, as it goes to the heart of the Italian shopkeeper to reduce those prices which have made his fortune since the war. A large quantity of wool has been sent to Italy from Australia, and consequently the Italian wool merchant has difficulty in disposing of his goods, and the woolen stuff can now be purchased for $10 a yard. The shopkeepers, however, refuse to sell their cheaper material at the lower price, and the dealer but inferior quality cloth which they have in their shops, and continue calmly to charge from $10 to $200 for a suit of clothes.

DELEGATE TO DRY CONGRESS NAMED

LAST OF KRUEGERS TO GO ON TRIAL

End of Cases of Notorious Clark County Draft Evaders.

United States Attorney William H. Dougherty will prosecute the government's case against the Kruegers and her son, Lewis Krueger, of Owen, Wisconsin, who were to be tried in the federal court at Superior early in August. Both are charged with conspiracy to oppose the military force of the United States.

Last of the Trials. The Superior trial promises to be the last of a series of famous actions in which members of the Krueger family were defendants. Two sons are now serving terms in Waupun prison, being convicted of crimes connected with the evasion of the military draft.

The family operated a silver-gravel farm in Clark county. During the war it is alleged they refused to support the government and the sons were called to register in the draft. They made their farm into an imprisoned fort and defied the state and government authorities. One of the sons was killed and one sentenced for life upon conviction for murder.

One Son Deserted. One son who registered and was ordered to an army training center, deserted and left the state. He was caught this year when identified in a crowd.

The case is somewhat similar to the Bergdahl scandal for the family is alleged to have used force and deadly means to prevent the government from enacting war-time legislation. Some of the defendants in the federal case are now at liberty, having furnished bonds.

Attorney Dougherty stated Friday that the trial would probably start August 1, before Judge C. S. Lusk.

RIVER IS CLAIMED SAFE FOR BATHERS

Health Officer Says Ordinary Precautions Will Prevent Disease.

There is little possibility of contracting harmful germs from swimming in Rock river at the public bathing beaches in the opinion of Dr. Fred B. Welch, city health officer. There is no danger as long as the water is not swallowed or taken into the mouth.

Dr. Welch in the past few weeks has been quoted numerous times by various people regarding the condition of Rock river. In his opinion it is permissible to swim in the river at Goose Island or the Mousie beach as there is no sewage from Janesville entering along this point.

"There is a large divergence of opinion of medical authorities," he said, "on the subject of harm from polluted waters but leading authorities claim that harmful bacteria, especially the typhoid fever germs, are destroyed by sunlight in four and one-half hours at a depth of five feet in warm water. The only danger from germs from sewage is from points above Janesville, but harmful germs from there it is believed, would be destroyed by the time they reach Janesville."

It is stated by Dr. Welch that any swimmer who wishes to take extreme precautions against any dangerous germs should wash his face and head thoroughly with clean soap and water.

"I have had many cases of disease from there in the past few years," said Dr. Welch, "which were attributed to contact with germs in Rock river but it has never been proved."

NEW YORK CATS LEAD DOG'S LIFE

New York Cats on the east side are leading a dog's life. Stray cats are the common alley or street variety, or the placed put in some tenement household. They must be wary, for there is a price on their heads. Small boys have become their enemies.

A man announced he would pay a cat $100 for each cat brought to headquarters of the society for prevention of cruelty to animals, the idea being to exterminate all stray cats in the move to prevent spread of disease.

All cats become stray cats to the boys, however.

social at the farm of C. J. Bemis on the upper Postville road July 18. The three members of this district will meet in the city hall, Janesville at 8 p. m. Friday. Notice of the meeting was made by Charles E. Tews.

EDITOR'S WIFE MAY RUN FOR CONGRESS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Amerphol, Clinton, Iowa, who are spending the summer at their cottage up the river, came down and spent Thursday at her home, Prospect avenue.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Pullen of Janesville, Fourth of July morning. It has not yet been stated whether they will name him George Washington, Thomas Jefferson or Theodore Roosevelt. But a boy born on Independence day should have a patriotic name and in view of the hard work of the late war, it might not be out of place to suggest that the boy be called Liberty.

Miss Jessie Sullivan, Watertown, N. Y., and Miss Jessie Ash, Oxford, N. Y., are guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Melrose, on their way to California.

Y. M. C. A. Gets Jobs for Many

A brighter outlook for working conditions in Janesville is seen by John Koller, industrial secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who within the past month has placed more than 20 men in permanent jobs and has found scores of temporary jobs for men, many of whom had some without food for want of hard cash.

The Y. M. C. A. business men in contact with scores of men from all walks of life, has stated in an employment bureau and a day does not pass that a man does not come in seeking work. Any one having work for men for any length of time is requested to call Mr. Koller.

SOLDIER HOSPITAL COMMITTEE NAMED

Madison. — The committee selected by Governor Blaine to plan a state hospital at its first meeting in the executive office Thursday, completed organization but made no move to determine location of the new institution.

Governor Blaine was chosen chairman and a sub-committee on plans and specifications was selected, composed of Senator J. R. Hawley, Mr. W. E. Loefer, Henry Town of the board of control and Dr. E. J. Barrett, state commander of the American Legion.

The whole committee will be subject to call of the governor, while plans and specifications are being drawn. Following determination of the plan, the site will be chosen.

ELKS' CONTESTANTS ARE GIVEN BANQUET

In appreciation of their work in the Elks' popularity contest here, Miss Hazel Bennett, the winner, and 12 other contestants, were given a banquet in the private dining room of the Grand hotel Thursday night. Victor E. Hemming received the guests. Those in attendance were Amanda, Hope, Ruth Lynta, Marie Hanson, Mary Flannigan, Mollie Byrne, Lillian Dulin, Margaret Denning, Hazel Bennett, Hazel Baker, Florence Heller, Marion Drummond, Olive Pope and Hazel Palmer.

The room was specially decorated. The tables were festooned with carnations.

BUYER OF BOOZE IS NOW LIABLE

Thirsty Can be Fined From $100 to $1000 if He Purchased Stuff.

Closer inspection of the new Wisconsin prohibition law shows that the law intended to prohibit the sale, the manufacture, transportation and the purchase of any intoxicating liquor. You cannot even buy the stuff legally without a prescription and the law from the doctor are going to be hard to obtain.

Purchaser is Liable. — The law stated clearly that anyone who purchases intoxicants is as liable as the one making the sale and is subject to a fine of from $100 to $1000, said District Attorney S. C. Davidson. "The law together with the fact it is a violation of the law to have liquor in possession, seems to be a good medium to secure convictions, for there are no excuses for buying liquor except with a valid prescription."

With the city council preparing to pass legislation to establish license fees for saloons, which will sell near-beer and drinks containing any alcohol, the owners are in a muddle what to do within the 30 day limit.

Want to Keep the Bars. — A number of the dry-saloon keepers are planning to close their places. Others see hope of keeping their places intact, their bars in place, and equipment by refusing to sell near-beer or drinks containing any alcohol. The new law cannot be applied to them if they cannot only to sell non-alcoholic drinks, cream and malted milk.

Food and drink saloon men have appealed to the brewers of near beer to take all alcohol out of the malt drinks to enable them to escape the licensing feature of the law and not have to dispose with bars, blinds, stools and old time equipment, including the celebrated rail.

Tempting Bait for Buccaneers Enroute to U. S.

New York. — There was a golden opportunity at sea Friday for buccaners that some people believe have been stalling ships right out in the ocean. Five steamships, plowing through the Atlantic, toward New York have more than $8,000,000 in British gold, to be delivered to American banking houses.

All are passenger carriers, heavily manned and heavily armed. The other shipments are on the Olympic, Carnarvon, Carmania and Carmania. The week nearly $11,000,000 in gold has been unloaded from steamers here. By mid-July almost $100,000,000 in gold will have been imported since Jan. 1. There is more than $250,000,000 in gold stored in the United States, the largest amount ever accumulated in this country, and about one-third of all the gold in the world.

MAIL CUSTODIAN IS CHARGED WITH THEFT OF $10,000. Grand Haven, Mich. — Benjamin Bergman, custodian of the local post office, charged with the theft of $10,000 from registered mail pouches. Officers say he confessed and a part of the money has been recovered.

ARRANGE FOR NEXT PICNIC OF LAKOTAS. Elbridge Finch has been appointed chairman of the committee to arrange for the July picnic of the Lakota club, the date for which will probably be July 26. Other members of the committee appointed by President Roy Merrick are John F. Conley, Earl Laird, Victor E. Hemming and Henry Blunk. The site has not been chosen. The adjourned regular club meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Monday when officers will start on their new term. There will be business pertaining to the picnic and other matters.

SHOWERS AT "Y" POPULAR IN JUNE. Saturday, with its excessive heat, led 110 men and boys to the shower baths in the Janesville Y. M. C. A. building, thereby establishing a record for this year for one day's patronage. An average of 75 a day or about 500 a week used the showers during the month of June, which compared with the population of Janesville now and a year ago, is a noticed increase.

The pool is popular and several men have taken lessons in swimming. The number using the baths in May was doubled in June. The tank was emptied and refilled with clean water this week. This is a slow process.

McCARL IS NAMED U. S. COMPTROLLER

J. Raymond McCarl.

J. Raymond McCarl of McCook, Neb., has been appointed comptroller general of the U. S. by President Harding. Under the law McCarl will hold the office for fifteen years unless removed by joint resolution of congress signed by the president. The office is one of the two major ones created by the land budget. McCarl has been secretary of the Republican congressional committee for three years.

Spooks of Ancestors Fail to Awe Modern Students of Nippon

Tokio.—The indifference of Japanese students above the middle school to ancestor worship is causing the government considerable concern, according to K. Yamada, chief of the Shinto affairs bureau in the home department, who addressed the general conference of the Shinto priests of Japan.

Ancestor worship is the fundamental religious custom in this country and is closely related to the national veneration for the imperial family and the imperial students.

"It is regrettable that the higher education students in this country, the more indifferent to their faith in ancestral spirits," said Mr. Yamada. "Judging from the number of visitors to the shrines and the amount of contributions such pilgrims make, there is every reason to conclude that, despite the growing preponderance of foreign objectionable ideas in this country since the late war, the spirit of worshipping ancestral shrines still remains intact.

"A serious fact, however, is that whereas the elementary school children are always sincere and earnest in their faith, students studying in schools higher than middle schools show indifference towards such matters.

"The worshipping of ancestral shrines is so closely associated with the national character of the empire that the above tendency cannot be ignored. It is the authorities' decision that some proper steps be taken for the correction of this undesirable state of affairs, assisted by the Shinto priests."

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Bryn Mawr college has gone on record as the first college in the country to share its equipment during its usually idle months with women workers in industry. The summer school for women workers, the opening of which has recently been announced by Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of the college, is the result of the combined plans of Bryn Mawr and the great labor groups of women throughout the country.

The plan will make possible to ambitious, capable workers the educational opportunities they have had to forget in their struggle for a livelihood. In the regular courses at Bryn Mawr a student must have a certain number of credits before admission to study is granted. In the summer school educational requirements have been done away with in order that women may take the courses offered. Bryn Mawr alumni are among the tutors and assistants in the school and will help in the organization of outdoor sports which are always so important a feature of college life.

The subjects offered include English, literature, history, economics, government, elementary law, physiology and hygiene, community life, general psychology, appreciation of art, industrial organization, and labor movements and problems. The summer school is not committed to any dogma or theory, but conducts its course in the broad spirit of industrial inquiry. Students are admitted irrespective of any affiliation with an organized labor group.

Scholarships of $200 each are being raised by trade unions, working girls' clubs and private individuals interested in the educational experiment.

WOMEN'S CLUBS WANT
FEDERAL ROAD BODY

That the highway question is too important in its bearing on American life to be left in the hands of a bureaucratic management, and that Congress should create a federal highway commission to administer this essential activity, is the opinion expressed by Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman of Chicago, chairman of the department of road education, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. W. L. Arnold, chairman of the committee on roads, in general charge of the highway work of the organization.

"After a full discussion at our biennial council meeting in Salt Lake City recently the delegates present, representing some 2,000,000 American clubwomen, strongly endorsed these principles introduced by Senator Townsend," declared Mrs. Sherman.

CLAIM MRS. KABER TRIED POISONING

State Witnesses Assert Food
She Served Husband
Made Him Ill.

Cleveland.—Testimony considered of vital importance in establishing the state's claim that Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber first attempted to kill her husband, Daniel M. Kaber, by poisoning before his murder, was given Friday by Miss Crystal Benner, a nurse who attended him.

Miss Benner said she attended Mr. Kaber also at a hospital where he had been operated on for cancer when he was suffering from cancer. He did not have cancer, she said.

While Mr. Kaber had vomiting spells, after eating food at his home, served him by Mrs. Kaber, Miss Benner testified, he never vomited after eating at the hospital, except once, when Mrs. Kaber visited him. Mrs. Kaber had given him candy, she said.

Miss Benner testified that Mrs. Kaber became violently ill after eating candy given him by Mrs. Kaben. She said Mr. Kaben always became ill after eating Mrs. Kaben's food at home, but Mrs. Kaben served him. She testified that Mr. and Mrs. Kaben often quarreled.

FREE TREATMENTS PLANNED FOR CLINIC

In conjunction with the first annual clinic of Rock county physicians to be held here October 13-14, a series of examinations will be given all applicants free of charge. These will be held at Mercy hospital. One afternoon will be devoted entirely to children and another to babies. Two or three outside specialists will be brought here for this work.

These details were decided upon at a meeting of physicians here Thursday night. Doctors from nearby counties will be invited.

HANDY BACK ON DUTY, BARRY LEAVES

Officer Charles Handy returned to his work on the police department duty force, Friday, after his two weeks' vacation spent at the Ford cottage in the Lake Umbagog resort.

Officer Barry is the next police officer to take a vacation. His work will be handled by Officer Joseph Myers while special patrolman Leo Lennox will fill Barry's regular place as night relief man.

Sardinia Forgets Chronic Grouch as King Appears

Rome.—Sardinia is fond of calling herself the "Island of Italy" and threatening to separate from the mother country whom it accuses of having always behaved to the island in a somewhat step-motherly way. However, the recent visit of King Victor Emmanuel to his Sardinian subjects was the occasion for an outburst of loyalty which will oblige the investigators of separatism to defer their hopes. Even the socialists joined in welcoming the king.

News Notes From Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Anyone who has the mistaken idea that the life of a movie star is one of luxury and ease should meet Lucy Fox. After viewing this lovely photograph of her you will probably decide that everyone ought to meet her any day.

The first time she was taken to four in a cool office and envy the pretty movie actresses, however, would soon change their minds after a day spent with Miss Fox.

Miss Fox, who is in such demand that she is at present appearing for the camera day and night, by day she is appearing in the Marshall Nutter film, "The Lotus Eater," at night she is playing in the pictures. It is no uncommon thing for her to work sixteen hours a day between the two companies who employ her. Wonder when she gets her beauty sleep?

LOUISE DE PRE SIGNS

Announcement has just been made by the Casco Productions, Inc., that the company has started a series of two-reel productions, adapted from the stories of Louisa May Alcott, and has obtained the services of Louise Du Pre, former understudy and "double" for Mary Pickford, for the stellar role in the first of these productions, which is almost completed and ready for release.

Miss Du Pre's engagement by the Casco Productions, Inc., is by special contract arrangement whereby she is

TROUBLE LOOMING FOR WHISKEY RING

Indicted Revenue Officer's Promise to "Tell" Causes Anxiety.

Kenosha. — Cold chills are playing tag up and down the backs of Kenosha men, indicted by the grand jury in connection with the whiskey ring, which is said to have transported booze to Wisconsin centers, including Beloit, Janesville, Monroe and Madison.

Arthur Beck, ex-Kenosha, has been arraigned in the United States court in Milwaukee and is under indictment here. Bert Herzog and Joseph Custer, government prohibition agents, are under indictment and it is understood they will expose the Kenosha booze ring and the alleged bribes. The indictments also name Joseph Budar and Frank Peur.

It is going to tell everything I know about the whiskey ring, says Custer, who is former Kenosha ball player and internal revenue collector. This statement has caused considerable worry over in Kenosha and not a little in Beloit and Janesville, where it is claimed much of the contraband booze has been sold.

It is admitted here that the men who operated out of the city furnished liquor to a long list of customers in Beloit, Janesville and Monroe. The United States grand jury, meeting in Madison in October, will consider the evidence.

The names of the buyers are declared to be in the hands of government prohibition agents, being obtained from those indicted here. The government now threatens to clean up the liquor interests who have been active in the purchase and distribution of illicit booze from Kenosha and Milwaukee.

Base Stealing a Relic as Heavy Hits Increase

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago. — The stolen base, once one of the biggest factors in the attack of world championship baseball teams, has been thrown into the discard by the major league managers of today. Records show that there were nearly three times as many stolen bases in the American league and nearly twice as many in the National league nine years ago as there were last year, and indications are that the decrease this year over nine years ago will be still greater. Where there were no star base stealers three is now only one.

Many reasons for the decrease are advanced by managers and men who formerly were noted for their daring on the paths. While all agree that heavy hitting has helped in the tendency to make the stolen base extinct, some also blame the ineffectiveness of the pitchers, failure of umpires to enforce the balk rule and the scarcity of fast men. To Cobb, the greatest base runner in history, says that the stolen base has been discarded only temporarily and will be back in vogue.

A Natural Cycler. Cobb declares that the game moves in cycles and that following the cycle of great pitching and great base stealing, now have the cycle of great hitting.

"With the sluggers of today, base stealing is a relic," said the Detroit manager, who has stolen more than 300 bases in his career. "But, the hitting will pass. Then we will again return to the cycles of pitching and base stealing. Five years from now my boys will be running bases as well as some youngsters now in grammar school."

This Cleveland manager of the world champion Indians combines effectiveness of pitching with heavy hitting as the reason for the lack of stolen bases.

"The base runner of today is the man who goes from first to third or from second home on a single, not the man who can steal seventy-five bases in a season," said Speaker. "The ineffectiveness of the modern pitcher has brought about the heavy hitting and, indirectly, the decrease in stolen bases. We have no pitchers today like Mathewson, Jess, Walsh, Plunk, Waddell, Brown and other stars of ten years ago. The average pitcher of today is a weakling and hopes it won't hit him coming back."

Stricter Rules, Says Collins. Eddie Collins, who once was one of the greatest base runners, declares that the rules are not as strict as they were in the years past and that the runners are not any slower. "Why should I try to steal when I have men behind me who usually advance me on hits?" said Collins. "I'd be foolish to take the chance. Another thing, the rules are more strict now. We used to get a lot of free stolen bases when there were two out with the other team way away and no one cared whether the runner was on first or third. We don't get those any more. The only time I try to steal is with two out and one runner on first. Then I want to be on second so I can score on a single."

Mary Hooper, another greater base runner, takes the same view as Collins.

SUGAR FACTORY TO HAVE RECORD YEAR

Beet Crop in Good Condition — Open Plant About October 1.

With good expectations for the success of the beet crop, the Rock County Sugar Co., will open October according to Manager W. B. Davis. Between 250 and 275 men will be employed.

Twelve men are now employed in the factory doing advance work, and more than 250 are in the fields. The field laborers are mostly Austrians, Belgians and other foreigners, especially capable of doing this kind of work.

The 1921 crop is exceptionally good in many places and more acreage has been planted than last year. A slight effect was shown on the crop during the continued hot spell, but since the heavy rains the crop is assured to be in first class condition by the first of October.

The annual scale of the cost of sugar will be seven cents a pound or seven dollars per hundred, or eight cents a pound and eight dollars a hundred, and so on. The plant will run the usual 24 hours a day, employing 25 shifts each working 12 hours.

TWO GIRLS NARROWLY ESCAPE DROWNING

Green Bay. — Miss Dorothy Lalcomb, daughter of A. N. Lalcomb, superintendent of the Lake Shore division of the Northwestern road, and Miss Dorothy Kane narrowly escaped drowning when they were washed off a sand bar in Green Bay, near Benderville. The girls were rescued by Edmund Quinn, Chester Lally and Christ Van Zanden, the latter almost losing his life.

Take Draft of Peace Resolution to Cabinet

Washington. — A tentative draft of a proclamation of the state of peace with Germany and Austria was taken to the cabinet meeting Friday by attorney General Davis. It was indicated that the document might not be ready for the president's signature before next week.

Thirty members of the local lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose will attend the Legion fete to be held at Waterville, July 17. They will make the trip in motor cars.

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM
Build a Community Center and Convention Hall for the city; for athletic, cultural and social purposes, and for the use of the city as a whole. This is also a part of a program to provide music and entertainment for the people of the year around. Complete the city plan. Make more small parks and playgrounds and provide at least one large park where the whole people may recreate at will.
Camp for auto tourists coming to Janesville or passing through.
Erect a memorial for the soldiers of the World War, suitable and adequate, and preserve the relics and souvenirs of the war in all other American wars in a public place.
Finish the paving of Janesville streets and complete the sewer system.
Keep the city looking bright and clean with paint and the streets free from filth.
Either build a new hotel or lease the one at the corner of the city hall and take care of the traveling public and be able to handle conventions.
Give the high school at an early date and give the children proper educational facilities.
If you are going away on a vacation arrange to have the Gazette follow you. Notify the Circulation department.

JANESVILLE MERCHANTS TO THE FRONT
Janesville merchants have again shown that they are in the very advance guard of progress. The concrete evidence was in the extraordinary showing made by the Gazette midsummer merchandise section Thursday. It is another indication of the commanding position Janesville has in the retail trade of the great area about the city. For years Janesville has been the center of attraction for that population. It began to be true more than 75 years ago when the country was new. Even then Janesville had the stores and the trade. As the years have gone the merchants have kept pace with time and have met the demands made by a discriminating and educated public.
The news of merchandise forms one of the interesting chapters in the make-up of every newspaper. To a great part of the people the store news is the most interesting of all. In that space is told the story of styles, of economy and satisfaction. That was the principle on which John Wannamaker founded a great business and he succeeded for years in attracting a trade to Philadelphia that had heretofore made its buying center in New York. Wannamaker did much for Philadelphia and more for himself. He was a constant and persistent advertiser of his merchandise and by that means and that alone attracted the customer whom he afterward held by the values he gave and the satisfaction the public had in trading at his store. These two elements will make any city, large or small, a great trading center—advertising and the merchandise plus salesmanship in all of its highest terms—when the merchants join to seek this common result.
These are the factors that have made Janesville the trading center for the territory many miles beyond the immediate geographical environment. The same policy continued in a constantly emphasized manner, will add still more to the trade sought and received.
The buying time is here. It has been a long period of waiting for merchants. Prices have not been lowered to any degree recently from either the factory or by the wholesaler. And there is every indication that they will not be reduced for another season at least, if then. So this seems to be a good time to take advantage of sales—or efforts to meet the customer by the merchant and to fill the wants which have been waiting for the day to come when bottom was struck.
That German court will soon be ordering the allies to present croix de guerre to the brutal officers being tried.

REMEMBER THE HORSE
In these days of heat remember the horse. He may be passing away as a great figure in transportation but he is still and ever will be man's faithful friend and servant. He feels the heat as well as the human being. This is the time to give the whip a rest, to sponge off the horse at night and to see that he does not have to stay in a hot stable.
The heat got a little too strenuous even for the thermometer.

HOPE IN THE IRISH SITUATION
When an immovable object and an irresistible force meet then comes cataclysm—the destruction of both and all that is near. This has been the situation in Ireland. It has, if continued, meant the destruction of the Irish in revolt, the killing of thousands of the soldiers sent to quell them, and eventually business and commercial chaos. It is quite likely that such a thing as a subduing the Sinn Féin is impossible even though Britain stationed a soldier at every house south of Ulster. However, that gains the Irish only death and martyrdom. If the exaltation of the idea is sufficient satisfaction then there can possibly be no argument that will end such a situation. Into this contest age-old, has come a new figure—Gen. Jan Smuts. He was once a revolutionist, a Boer general and without surrendering his principles of autonomous government, has grown to be a power in the British kingdom. The day will come when he will perhaps be considered the foremost man in all Britain. He is endeavoring to meet the Irish revolutionists in a way that will result in an end to the guerrilla warfare and give to the Irish that degree of autonomy that has worked well with the governments of Canada and South Africa. If the situation goes on wherein Britain continues in her position that she will never permit greater freedom for South Ireland and the Irish persist in a demand for independence or nothing, it can mean only the meeting of an immovable body by an irresistible force and the destruction of both.

THINKS SHE MAY BE FREED OF THE CHARGE OF MURDER OF HER HUSBAND
Not to hurt anyone's feelings, but as a faithful record of current events, it may be gathered that harmony is lacking in the nonpartisan league in North Dakota. One faction printed a story in the official newspaper and the edition was partly sold when another faction stopped the presses and fired the editors. In this edition was an accusation of financial transactions involving league funds, all of which is indicative of the approaching end of the league and its org in North Dakota. Falling in Kansas as it has, the league has no hope and one ambition and that is here in Wisconsin. But Mr. Townley is apparently not wanted in this state. He might upset the calculations of the men in charge of the republican party and its destinies if the nonpartisan league should get too prominent in state administrative councils.
Between the railroads and foreign countries we will soon be able to loan all the money we have in America.

OUR NEED OF DIPLOMATS
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington, D. C.—For many years it has been publicly and privately deplored that the United States, one of the great world powers, is the only one which has not a real diplomatic service. Its ministers and ambassadors to the other nations of the globe are almost invariably appointed from private life to represent the United States abroad, often as a reward for special service to their political party or large contributions to the campaign fund.
It has been the custom for some members of the party out of power to talk of establishing a diplomatic service on a par with the military and naval services, with men trained to diplomacy taking the highest rank and their fitness for these posts of great responsibility are shown.
Under present conditions, which have obtained many years, it is impossible for a poor man or a man of moderate means—no matter what his qualifications—to accept the appointment as ambassador at London or Paris, for instance. The establishment which the dignity of these positions requires is far out of reach of the ordinary pocketbook, and the salary of $17,500 is scarcely a drop in the bucket.
Recently, through congressional acceptance of the gift of J. P. Morgan, the United States acquired an embassy in London. It was one of Mr. Morgan's houses. The salary allowed, to the American ambassador to the Court of St. James would, not be nearly sufficient to pay the rent alone for this house.

AN UNKNOWN SON
Dear Roy: Recently I was trying to get a copy of a Biblical story book, entitled "Paul of Tarsus." I was directed to a certain counter where religious books and articles were sold. The young lady in attendance was showing a customer some prayer-books, but in adjusting one of her curls she happened to look my way. So I asked her if they had a copy of "Paul of Tarsus."
"Sure," she replied, pushing in a halpin, "but I didn't know that was his name." And going over to the fiction table, she handed me a copy of Burroughs' "The Son of Tarzan."—A. Alexander Thomas.

Who's Who Today
HERBERT C. PELL
Herbert C. Pell of New York City, the new Democratic state chairman of New York, enjoys the unique distinction of being the first Democratic state chairman whose name appears in the Social Register. He is independently wealthy and will devote all of his time to the position. The assumption is made that he may also devote a good part of his money to it.
Counted an experienced politician and a good mixer, Pell made an unprecedented gain for himself in 1918. He was elected to the Fifteenth Avenue millionaires and the hotel and theater district. Pell was defeated for re-election last year by Ogden L. Mills.
Born in 1884, Pell is married and has one son. He is a member of the exclusive Union Club.
One of the most active Democrats while in congress, Pell was the only representative New York City voted against the $500,000,000 tax burden to New York state.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
The Unsightly Billboard
In a letter to The Kansas City Star, Mr. George H. Buckenick tells of a recent visit to the city. He is of the opinion that the city is getting its impression from lines of billboards (tagging the Atlantic union station, or from the lines of advertisements, together with the lines of the principal residence streets of the city. He found it in the evident desire of Atlanta citizens "to have their city known only as a progressive and up-to-date center, but as one of the beauty spots of the South as well."

LOOKING BACKWARD
FORTY YEARS AGO
July 8, 1881.—The thermometer at Webb and Hall's corner this morning towards noon stood at 90 degrees above and at Prentice and Johnson's 93.—Rock river claimed another victim today. All day long a severe cold fell in the river near the water mills and as he could not swim at all, was drowned immediately.

THE HARDSHIPS OF VACATION
The annual autumn fall of typhoid among returning vacationists is constantly diminishing as vacationists become more generally enlightened as to the perils of unclean drinking water, the flies in the dining room, and food-handling human "carriers" of typhoid bacilli. Then, too, a fairly large proportion of vacationists nowadays are immune to typhoid by vaccination. The prophylactic bacillus ("anti-typhoid vaccine") administered to millions of young men in war time. So far as the drinking of unclean water is concerned—that is, water not approved for drinking purposes by the local health authorities—there are two factors of safety: (1) boiling the water for five minutes; (2) dissolving in each quart a halozon tablet (a chlorine compound for sterilizing drinking water) or one grain of chloride of lime.
A vacationist heading for the wilds or for a camping trip should not fail to include in his equipment a simple first aid outfit—but it is not necessary to carry a trailer or an extra wagon to hold the first aid outfit. A simple first aid kit will be described presently. Trouble with most so-called first aid kits is they are cluttered up with more fillers for the sake of appearance or maybe somebody's profit. The matter of exposure and suffer with sunburn. It is well to subject the skin to very brief exposures—not more than five minutes of direct sun—gradually increase the periods of exposure by five or ten minutes daily. When going on the water or otherwise exposing the skin for prolonged periods, keep covered with clothing, or coat the exposed skin with cold cream or oxide ointment and a heavy dusting with talcum powder. This is more comfortable and prevents sunburn as effective as cure. But there is nothing better for the relief of sunburn than freshly made cold cream or zinc oxide ointment, sprinkled over with plain talcum powder.
No vacationist should prevent his mind or his body from being relaxed by the notion that summer contains anything serious or dangerous. Q. How much radium is in commercial use? C. D. D.
A. About six ounces of radium of radium has been isolated and put into commercial use.
Q. Does an auto tire weigh more after it is pumped up? J. K. E.
A. The weight of a tire and a tire's weight increases according to the amount of air pumped into it.
Q. How long has Tammany Hall been in influence in politics? W. W.
A. The "Secret Society of St. Tammany" was organized in 1789, as a patriotic and social organization, but as early as 1817 it identified itself with the democratic-republicans as opposed to the federalists, and took an active part in the political campaign of 1800.
Q. Where does the United States rank in regard to literacy? H. J. H.
A. Such figures are hard to compile, since various countries base their figures differently. The United States ranks high in literacy, but the Netherlands, Sweden, the United Kingdom, and Australia have less literacy than the United States. Considering only our white population, this is a fact which is a much higher percentage of literacy.
Q. Are men more or less overworked entitled to additional overwork pay? W. S. R.
A. All men who have served overseas before July 11, 1918, are entitled to additional overwork pay.
Q. What is a bedtime agreement? T. F.
A. This is an arrangement by which a group of persons share certain benefits or monies on such terms that in the event of the death or default of one or more members these shares are divided among the survivors. This is a form of life insurance, the whole amount of overwork pay, in most modern insurance companies the whole goes to those remaining in the group on the expiration of the term of the agreement.

"One of the Greatest Economic Problems Is Distribution"
PRESIDENT HARDING in a recent address declared that "one of the greatest economic problems, if not the greatest, is distribution." There can be no doubt of the position of the good roads movement in the solution of the problem. I believe that Federal and State Governments must not only create good roads but they must insist upon the maintenance of good roads. A good road gone wrong is a streak of memorial to neglect and waste. The roads we build must be built for use in the distribution of products rather than for merely pleasure riding. We must foster the use of motor trucks.
The expression of the chief executive of our nation is but a confirmation of the experiences of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in the conduct of its business.
The problems of distribution are of paramount importance and in effecting this distribution, good roads are a primary essential.
The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has in operation more than 4000 motor trucks engaged in distributing gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils to ultimate consumers in 11 Middle Western States. It is the business of this department to attempt to furnish Standard Oil products to whoever may require them, wherever he may live.
To supplement the tank wagon, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a network of service stations, located on the main traveled highways, every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.
Through its highly specialized organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures from crude petroleum the three factors necessary to a solution of the problems of distribution.
Stanolind Paving Asphalt for good roads—enduring roads.
Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, for power—tremendous power.
Polarine, the perfect motor oil, for lubrication—correct lubrication.
In the manufacture of these products, the Company has set as a measure of value, specifications which it believes insure the user the utmost of service at a minimum of expense. Its products are made to exact standards, and these standards are based upon a careful, exhaustive study of the conditions under which they will be used. All are uniform in quality and go to the consumer with the Company's guarantee that they are exactly as represented.

A FREE BOOKLET ON THE USE OF RICE
Rice may be made into appetizing dishes for any meal. It is a good breakfast food, and an excellent basis for soups, substantial dishes, salads and desserts. This booklet will show you how to make it suitable for serving or combining with other food materials. It contains recipes for soups, stews, meats, cereals, and some fruits and vegetables.
It is comparatively cheap so that, when used to supplement and extend the flavor of more expensive foods, will prove an economic practice in any household.
The Department of Agriculture has just issued an attractive booklet giving full instructions on how to secure the best results in cooking rice, accompanied by a large number of new recipes. This is a free booklet, and will be sent to you on request. Write to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for a coupon to secure this booklet. Be sure to write plainly.

HIGH RECORD SET BY TRADE SCHOOL

Day and Evening Classes Show Total Enrollment of 659.

Figures compiled by the vocational school for the state department show that a good showing in attendance was made by the various classes throughout the year. All day pupils during the year totaled 25 boys and 15 girls with an enrollment at the close of 12 boys and 15 girls. Fifteen withdrew on account of moving away, entering another school or becoming of age. Average attendance during the school year was 23 at a session.

In the part time school 107 boys and 147 girls were enrolled during the year of whom 65 boys and 72 girls withdrew before the close of the year. The average attendance was 68 boys, and 81 girls. Two girls over the compulsory age limit attended this school.

The largest attendance since the opening of the night school here prevailed during the 1920-1921 term. The total enrollment was 128 men and 204 women of whom 60 men and 53 women withdrew before the close of the term. A high figure for an average attendance was set with 59 men and 125 women being present at a session.

U.S. Soon to Own Monarch of Air

London.—Uncle Sam soon will become the possessor of the British-built R-35, the largest rigid airship yet constructed in any country and a craft that represents the very "last word" in "aerial dreadnought" design.

Trim and smart as the quarter-deck of an admiral's flagship, the R-35 soon to be designated officially by her new American name, ZR-2, is claimed to be the most formidable craft ever to "take the air."

She is expected to be capable of "5,000 miles" flight at full speed—70 miles per hour—or 3,500 miles per hour "cruising speed" of 60 miles per hour. Her specifications call for an armament of 14 Lewis guns, a one-pound automatic gun, four bombs of 500 pounds and eight bombs of 250 pounds. The machine-guns are distributed at vantage points so that any form of attack, from land, sea or air, might effectively be countered.

The ship's heavy armament serves as an index to her character. She is designed to serve, if occasion arises, as the general headquarters of a whole fleet of air-craft, and in emergency, an auxiliary "business end."

MEXICAN ARMY CUT TO 50,000 MEN SOON
Mexico City.—The Mexican army has been reduced to 50,000 officers and men, including all branches of service, according to a war office statement. The reduction will be continued until the minimum of 30,000, set by General Obregon, is obtained.

A DAY'S RECIPES
Rolled skirt steak—One cup of stale bread crumbs, one small onion chopped, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sage or thyme, one-quarter cup of oil, one egg, hot water to moisten, four tablespoons dripping.

Wipe skirt steak with a damp cloth, sprinkle lightly with salt and coat with crumbs with onion, seasonings and beaten egg. Add enough boiling water to moisten the dressing. Mix thoroughly and spread on the steak.

Roll steak up and fasten securely with string and dredge with flour. Meit fat in a roasting pan, brown meat quickly all over and roast in a moderate heat over about 35 minutes. Serve with brown gravy from fat in the pan.

Raspberry Delight—Line a mold with lady's fingers (macaroons may be used instead) and cover the bottom with a layer of fresh raspberries. Soak two tablespoons of gelatin with one-fourth cup of cold water, heat cup of raspberry juice to the boiling point, add the soaked gelatin and one-third cup of sugar.

Stir until dissolved. Strain, cool, and when cold and slightly thickened stir in one quart of stiffly whipped cream. Pour into the mold and place on ice until serving time.

DELICIOUS PICNIC SANDWICHES
Whipped Cream Sandwiches—Spread very thin slices of white bread with butter. Just before serving spread with whipped cream, sweetened, mixed with chopped nuts and chocolate shavings. Cut sandwiches crosswise, forming triangles, and press a piece of red cherry on the top of each. Very delicious.

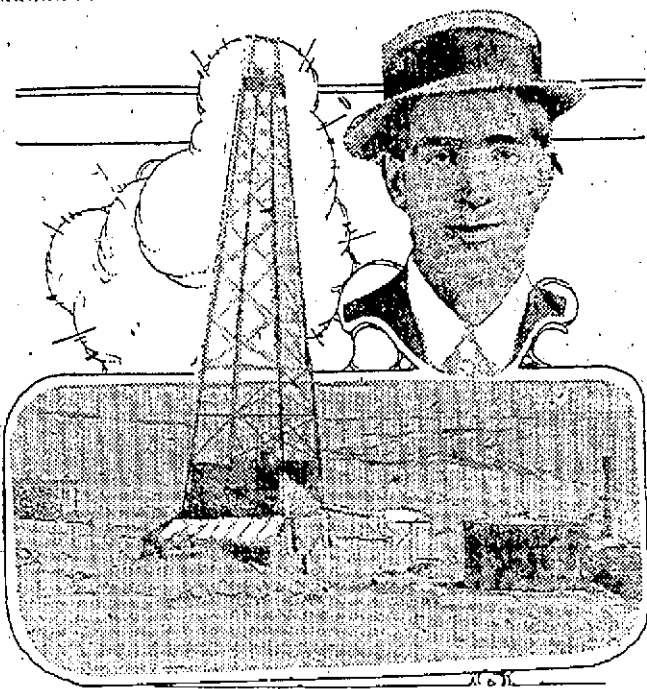

Combination Sandwiches—Cut bread very thin, leaving edges on one side together like a book. Spread with butter, and layer of thin cream cheese. Cover with ice cold sliced bananas and spread with mayonnaise.

Finale Sandwiches—Grind slices of baked cottage cheese in meat grinder. Mix with stuffed olives (chopped). Serve with crisp lettuce leaf and mayonnaise between slices of whole-wheat bread.

"Worthless" Farm Makes Its Owner Millionaire

Richard J. Ihde and a glimpse of his farm.

Green Bay.—Hard luck, which turned to good luck, has made Richard J. Ihde of Green Bay wealthy, through a "worthless" farm he abandoned when it refused to yield wheat, but which later turned out to be rich in oil.

After nearly accepting an offer of $1 an acre for it he reconsidered and now is enjoying an income of $3,000 a month, representing a one-eighth interest in royalties. An offer of $250,000 has been made to Ihde for one-half of his royalties and he has also turned down $1,000,000 cash for title to the farm.

The Green Bay man's fortune came to him most unexpectedly and when he had almost given up hope of realizing anything from his labor.

Lived Life of Hermit
Ihde left Peshigo in 1914 and took up a homestead in Montana, with the intention of developing it into a wheat farm. His tract comprised 320 acres, 20 miles from Winnie.

He found wheat farming uphill business and met with untold discouragements. He had little money and had to "batch" it. For two years he kept at it, getting his own meals and living the life of a hermit. In November, 1917, he married Miss Clara Edmann of Green Bay and after the ceremony at Lewistown, Montana, the newlyweds spent their honeymoon on the farm. Two more years of discouragement met their efforts and he finally decided he could never put the farm on a paying basis. His money was exhausted and he was forced to gain his livelihood in some other way. So Ihde decided to leave the farm and after being unsuccessful in his efforts to sell the farm, and obtained employment.

Trying to forget his unfortunate experience with the farm, Ihde settled down to his work here with a fruit company. From time to time he received reports indirectly, but

Sees River Possibilities
Discarding the river, Mr. Paige declared if the St. Lawrence-to-the-Sea waterway is constructed, Rock river should be utilized for freight traffic. Motor drive barges are now made, he stated, that do not need very deep water, and by the construction of a series of dams and locks in the river, with artificial embankments where needed, the Rock river could be turned into a good sized canal. He may later draw a map to show these possibilities.

MEDAL FOR SERVICE TO CITY IS PLANNED
(An Associated Press.)
Cleveland.—"For distinguished service to the city of Cleveland," that is the inscription on a bronze medal that will be awarded to Clevelanders and possibly others who render conspicuous service to the city of Cleveland.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce has announced that a man, who will not permit his name to be divulged, has presented and endowed such a medal in perpetuity.

Merrill—Henry Hoffman, saloon keeper in the town of Scott, near here, asserted that he had secreted from his friends at his place of business a map that will show the railroad facilities of Janesville and how they connect with other roads of the country. This map will take in the entire thought nothing of them. One letter offered him $1 an acre, but he did not think it worth while to answer the letter, although he might have been willing to sell for that. Later he received an offer for a lease. Then the man who had tried to get him to sell for $1 an acre raised his offer to $4,000 for a lease.

With such a price staring him in the face, Ihde decided it was worth his while to take a trip to Montana to investigate. Arriving there he found the section had gone wild over oil discoveries and indications, were there might be oil on his land. So good were the prospects he sold a lease to a petroleum company for $1,000, receiving a one-eighth interest in all oil produced.

Today there are four producing wells on the abandoned "worthless" farm and 12 more wells are under construction. Some are expected to be big producers. Many flattering offers for the property have been made.

"Gold Digger" Saleman
When asked what he expected to do with his money, Ihde replied: "First I am going to establish my seven brothers and five sisters in business or on farms, then I am going to build a fine home right here in Green Bay for myself and family."

The story of Ihde's rise from comparative poverty to riches in a few years would be incomplete without a record of the efforts made by legalistic salesman and "gold digger" to separate him from his money. Every mail brings him offers and scarcely a day passes he does not receive some opportunity to "double his money." But he declares he is not going to be stampeded into investing his surplus or selling the old farm, being content to see his income roll in increasing dimensions as the oil pushes out of his "barren fields" that refused to yield wheat in sufficient quantities to afford him a livelihood.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT ROTS ON GROUND

Prohibitive Freight Rates, Keeps Enormous Crop From Eastern Markets.

"Sixty per cent of the canned goods of the pack of 1920 is still in the hands of the packers in California and the fruit is now rotting on the ground. There is serious situation in California among the fruit growers and bankruptcy faces many of the men who have ranches. Packers refuse to open their canneries and have told the growers in many parts of the state that if they wanted the fruit canned it would be at the expense of the grower. Freight rates and the high cost of sugar in the last year's pack have contributed to aggravate the situation."

So stated DeForest to the Gazette Tuesday. Mr. DeForest, for years an expert salesman with Libby, McNeil & Libby, and during the war, a fruit inspector for the government, left Janesville 10 months ago to make his home in California, or until he had regained his health. He had a serious case of rheumatism contracted as a result of carrying so much fruit during the war, and in a crippled condition went to the coast. Now that he has practically recovered, he expects to make his home here again. During his residence in California Mr. DeForest was naturally deeply interested in the fruit and canning business.

"Apples were ripening 10 days ago when I left San Bernardino," he said. "The growers were willing anyone should have them and take all they wanted for a cent and a half a quart. It is that way all over. No one is making money except the grape grower. He is getting rich. Eighty dollars a ton for grapes now as against $10 and $12 a ton a year ago makes a man a millionaire. The grape grower does not care about the freight increase either. Fruit shipping by the all water route is the only way the California grower can get his money without paying it all out for freight. But that does not serve the central west and only helps the consumer at the seaboard."

Driveway Memorial to Minneapolis Soldiers

Minneapolis.—Victory Memorial driveway will bear Minneapolis' memorial to its soldiers who gave their lives in the world war.

All along the new Minneapolis thoroughfare reverent commemorations, in the form of trees, stand as monuments for the 550 soldiers from this city who made the supreme sacrifice.

Five-hundred and fifty elm trees, one for each of the fallen, line the driveway on either side. At the base of each is a wooden cross, marked with the name of the hero for whom it is planted.

Coffee Room Popular Hotel Bar Substitute

Kansas City.—Which prohibition removed the hotel bar, three substitutes were introduced to take its place—the soda shop, the fountain and the coffee room. Chief income winner of these, according to S. J. Whitmore, head of Kansas City's two largest hotels, is the coffee room.

"The coffee room," said Mr. Whitmore, "provides food without service—at least with no service worth mentioning, compared with the hotel dining room and the grill room. It has proved popular and profitable, and we are only sorry we didn't discover sooner that people wanted it."

OCEAN WAVES ONCE ROLLED HIGH HERE, ENGINEER BELIEVES

Some time or other this section of the country was the floor of the ocean. So says E. N. Paige, industrial engineer who is here making a survey for the local Chamber of Commerce. He bases his belief on the finding of a piece of inferior limestone in which there was lodged a perfectly formed sea-shell.

"Limestone when examined under the microscope," says the engineer, "is found to be composed of layers of sea-shells. This specimen, which I have found could not have come here in a glacial period; it must have been left when the ocean was swept back by some force of nature."

The specimen was found in an old quarry on the Janesville-Egerton road, 30 feet beneath the original surface, about two miles from the city limits.

A DELICIOUS AND REFRESHING BRICK FOR THIS WEEK END ORANGE PINEAPPLE BITTERSWEET

barely describes this tempting brick.
Great Golden Oranges and Juicy Pineapple, fresh from Hawaii—shredded—mixed with our super-pure ice cream in combination with a layer of Bitter-Sweet Chocolate.

Plan to have a brick for dessert tomorrow and for your Sunday dinner.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT MAKES ICE CREAM SMOOTH?

If you examine ice cream under a microscope you'll find that it is full of tiny air cells, or bubbles. In these minute cells of air which make ice cream eatable instead of being frozen hard like ice. Ordinary ice cream is frozen with air. Air is always dangerous in food. When you put up fruit you fill the jars full, then you sterilize them to drive out all air and seal tightly with rubber rings to exclude all air. If you don't you know they will spoil.

The air which will spoil canned fruits or vegetables should not be used in making ice cream. So we freeze our ice cream in a sterile atmosphere of pure, germ-proof gas. We substitute carbonation for aeration. So we add the final safeguard around this delicious product.

CHAPTER II

To the fact that no national recognition was taken of the launching of the Yukon World, Kim Macbeth never became entirely reconciled. But he had no complaint to register against the reception of the paper in the vicinity of Dawson. On the day of the first issue business was suspended, miners crowded in from the creeks and the throng of people on the street made the town look like "Circus Day" back home. Len Cavendish, who combined the duties of managing editor with his duties on the mounted police, oversold his advertising space, so that the World was forced to increase its size by two pages on the first day.

With a pair of one eye, Kneath had been permitted, after a fortnight's convalescence, to go to the plant. He found that, although a few of the boys knew something of their particular jobs, there seemed no person competent to superintend the installing of the presses; certainly not the foreman who had represented himself to Kneath as "knowing his little less than the Almighty." However, by going to the plant earlier, and remaining later than any one else, by applying himself to any and every job which came to hand, and by instructing the boys with a simplicity and conscientiousness impossible to misunderstand, Kneath, a veritable engine of energy, soon had the first issue of the paper ready for the press.

"Silverlocks" Ingis, an old-fashioned handsetter, who had been associated with Weatherly in the east, and who had come "in" with him, reported to his chief with an enthusiasm which was almost hyperbolic. "Honest, chief," said the old man, "he's a natural-born wonder!"

The novelty of the paper was wearing off and the haunting fear of the townsfolk, in general, and Tim Meadows, in particular, that "a daily was too good to be true," was fading away before Kneath's hard work and his never embarrassing way of dealing with regard to the Merediths. Two tired when the day's work was over to do more than stumble to the hotel supper and nodder sleep he had won't Goldie but once since the first issue of the paper. Clara Meredith had not seen at all. Her visits had ceased with automatic abruptness during the morning she discovered Goldie in his room.

"Extreme sensitiveness was never one of my failings," Meredith remarked one evening as he overtook Kneath going home from the plant. "But I am free to confess that a brute is beginning to show some-where in my conduct at your persistent attitude of unkindness. What's the answer, Ed?"

Frank Meredith possessed that rare charm of manner which appeals alike to the old and the young, and it was hard for Kneath to withstand him. At the same time, he could hardly accept an invitation to dinner had not been sanctioned by his wife. The following morning he received a letter from her—a characteristic invitation in which all the he had transferred to the innocent person. It was broad daylight when Oydin, the Japanese house servant, admitted him to the Merediths' home.

"A cold, unfriendly gray," Clara exclaimed swiftly toward him and looking at him from a height almost equal to his own. "It's astonishing how many men in the Yukon have cold gray eyes."

Unprepared for the suddenness of her coming and for the boldness of her beauty and her costume, Kneath's face reflected the bewilderment of his mind.

"What did you think I would be like?" she laughed.

"I was prepared to see the most beautiful woman in Dawson," returned Kneath.

Posthumous Revenge

Every detective agency and the sharpest men in the detective bureau of police departments had been looking for the slayer of Jeremiah Hanks. There was publicity to be gained and a rich reward offered by the millionaire victim himself in a "most amazing message" scrawled, apparently, as life was ebbing from him.

"I have been shot. Someone came through side door of my library. Cannot identify. Get the villain. I am dying. To the detective who discovers my murderer, dead or alive, have entire contents of my safety deposit vault $15,544 in cash and bonds. Trust Company—within a year. Murderer must be captured in year. After that to benefit of public."

And the signature trailed off the page as if the unfortunate capitalist were in the last agonies of dying.

Jeremiah Hanks had been a man of mystery in the suburb of New York where he lived. He visited no one, entertained no visitors and was not known to have any relatives. His castle-like home was not large but, as he was said to have declared, he did not want his privacy disturbed by an army of servants. He even had the reputation of being bitterly misanthropic, although no one in Norwood could produce evidence of manifestations of bitterness.

His murder and gruesome note were the sensation of the newspaper-reading public. Not only did the crack detectives of America throng to the Hanks home to start immediately on the case, but there was a host of amateur criminologists who were tempted by the reward to come from far-distant places, and ponder and measure and ransack and ponder some of the detectives went so far as to follow clues that led to China and Madeira. Hanks had had a Chinese cook and a Madiran harbor-gardener. Everyone known to have passed near the Hanks home on the day of the murder was located, interviewed, photographed for the newspapers, third-degreed, some of them arrested and some charged with complicity in the murder, some of them shadowed for weeks at a stretch. No confessions were forced; circumstances for once refused to join for someone's doom.

Jeremiah Hanks had been a man of mystery in the suburb of New York where he lived.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Violet was a fast runner and Billy knew that he must get a good start, so as not to be caught or have her see where he was going.

"Billy! Billy! You mean old thing. I'll get even with you yet. You see if I don't." She turned just in time to see Nannie running in another direction.

"John! John! quick! Catch Nannie before she runs too far. I think it is real mean of you two to run away and try to hide from me when I want to take a drive, especially when I haven't been out for so long. I know what is the matter. It is the scrubbing you object to and not the drive. I had almost forgotten how Billy hated to be scrubbed with soap and water."

"John, you scrub Nannie while I catch Billy and we will give him the biggest scrubbing he ever had in his life. It will be his punishment for running away."

"Away she ran after Billy, but in about 10 minutes came back with a disappointed look on her face. "I can't find him anywhere and I have looked both in and outside of the barn. Do you think he ran around the barn and came back this way as I went around the other, as he sometimes does?"

"No, miss. The last I saw of him he was jumping the fence between the barnyard and the woods. Probably he has run to hide in the bushes, thinking that you surely could not find him there."

The girl recalled that is probably just what he has done, but I'll find him. For I will call Sheep and put him on his scent. He will soon find him for me. Hal! Hal! Billy Whiskers, I will get even with you pretty soon. Here, Sheep! here, Sheep!" she called in loud, clear accents, and then in long drawn-out tones, "He-e-e-e, She-e-e-e! Where in the world can the dog have gone? I never knew him to be anywhere but at my heels when I did not want him, and now that I need him in a hurry, I can't find him. Again she called, "He-e-e-e, She-e-e-e!"

Soon Sheep came bounding toward her from the direction of the brook, and it was plain to be seen what he had been up to, for he was muddy and wringing wet with the water dripping from him.

SOLDIER BONUS IS DEAD FOR SESSION

Legislation in Present State of Finances Unwise, Harding, Mellon Decide.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington. — Soldier bonus legislation is dead, at least so far as this session of congress is concerned. The executive branch of the government has warned congress that such a measure at this time would strain the nation's finances and add to the difficulties of the country's business situation.

President Harding is more or less committed to a soldier bonus. He is on record to leaders of the American Legion advising them. But he could not give his approval at this time. Secretary Mellon of the treasury department, who has written the senate a letter, arguing against the passage of a bonus bill, had the full support of Mr. Harding before he communicated with congress. Mr. Harding was unable to run counter to the advice given him by the treasury department and for the present at least the legislation will be deferred.

Even without Secretary Mellon's letter there was no assurance that the soldier bonus bill would pass the house. The plan was to rush it through the senate of course and it may yet go through that body for moral effect, but it is doubtful whether house leaders would have let it through at this time.

Bonus Not Disposed Of.
Mr. Mellon's letter makes it easier, however, for administration forces in congress to answer the demands of constituents for action on the bonus. They can make Mr. Mellon responsible and argue that, as a financier and business man, he ought to know what will and will not pass the business situation.

But the interesting fact is that the soldier bonus question is by no means disposed of either by Mr. Mellon's letter or the attitude which congress may assume. The movement has grown rapidly and, while conservative minds inside the American Legion have doubted the wisdom of 1921 for the presidential election, the business situation in favor of it and the Harding administration knows that, sooner or later, either just before the congressional elections of 1924 or a soldier bonus bill must be passed to prevent the soldier from voting in a body against the republicans next time.

Nine out of ten political prophets here admit that soldier bonus legislation is inevitable. The only question is when can it be passed consistent with the condition of the nation's finances. The present proposal is that it makes no provision for raising the money.

Four Different Ways.
There is one bill providing four different ways by which the service men are to be rewarded. — they can have money, homesteads, insurance or vocational training — and there is no way of telling what about the present proposal would be a billion and a half dollars or four billion dollars. It might be either figure. There are in congress at least 15 different bills, but the money shall be raised. Those suggestions go all the way from plans to recover money received by the so-called "war profiteers" to the use of the billion dollars of interest owed by foreign governments to the United States on the war debt. Nobody knows exactly how money already spent by so-called "war profiteers" can be recovered and that suggestions had not much support except in the radical group in congress. As for the interest on the foreign debt, there is no sign of money from that source and the chances are it will be from three to five years before any payments are made.

Must Think Up Way.
Nevertheless, the administration will have to think up some way of providing revenue some day to meet the demands of the soldiers. They feel that while they were abroad fighting, those who stayed at home either made money or preserved their opportunities in life. To the argument that the government is already overburdened with war debt, the usual answer of the American Legion members is that there should be a reduction in the amount of money spent to run the government and not a few of the leaders are heart and soul behind the disarmament movement, thinking that the government could well afford to pay the soldiers a bonus instead of preparing for war at a time when the whole world is financially and physically exhausted. So, even in the bonus question, the disarmament problem, arises.

AMERICANS AID PERU IN FIGHTING FEVER
Lima, Peru. — Nearly 1,000 deaths occurred from yellow fever during the last nine months in the departments of Lambayeque and La Libertad, northern Peru, according to statements published here, attributed to Dr. Henry Hanson, an American physician in charge of the sanitation campaign, directed against the fever by the Peruvian government and the Rockefeller Foundation.

The Rockefeller Foundation contributed $20,000 to fight the epidemic, which now is reported to be decreasing. It was estimated there were about 10,000 cases in the affected areas. The fight of the campaign has been the war against the stegomyia mosquito and the closing of water containers and stagnant pools in which mosquitoes breed.

Dr. Hanson's staff is composed of three supervising inspectors, five Peruvian physicians and 100 inspectors.

INTEREST IN BIRDS IS GROWING RAPIDLY
Chicago. — Interest in the birds of America is growing rapidly among school children and their organization in bird study clubs has advanced to large proportions.

Enrollment in the schools of the United States and Canada for the past ten years totaled 1,676,743. J. Gilbert Pearson of New York, president of the National Association of Audubon Clubs, announced. Classes numbered 65,739 in this period.

Next year the association hopes to enlist a third of a million children.

ANGRY BIRD FOLLOWS PLANE LONG DISTANCE
Lima, Peru. — A condor, a large bird which inhabits the Andes mountains, pursued an airplane in which Signor Boland, an Italian aviator, recently flew from Lima to Cuzco. The Italian made the flight of 700 miles in three hours and 40 minutes. When the aviator reached the ancient capital of the Incas the bird was still accompanying the airplane, apparently preparing to attack it.

TAFETA, ORGANDY AND HORSEHAIR MAKE NEW SUMMER HATS

Variety in fabric and style mark the newest summer hats. Here are three which will please. At the left is an opal blue taffeta with an opal blue taffeta with an abrupt off-the-face roll. A picot edged frill of the taffeta finishes the frill and a rosette of it adds a quaint trimming touch. The hat at the right is lavender organdy. It is the type of hat for the garden party, a large drooping brimmed sailor shape. It is ornamented by huge grape clusters of self fabric. For late and leisurely summer dining there is a hat of black horsehair pictured in the center. It is trimmed with uncurled ostrich and may be worn with any color and any style gown.

Sees Great Danger in Dearth of Candidates for Christian Ministry

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Des Moines. — The present dearth of candidates for the ministry, and America's "serious danger of raising up a generation of men and women who know nothing of the ideals or the sanctions of religion," were emphasized here by the Rev. Frank W. Padelford at the convention of Northern Baptists.

Dr. Padelford, who is executive secretary of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptists convention, and as such in closer touch with denominational institutions than any other Northern Baptist in the country, declared all denominations are suffering alike from a dearth of candidates for the ministry. "The situation needs to be faced seriously and immediately," he said. "Not only is the attendance in our seminaries at a low point, but there are few ministerial students in our colleges."

"We have set up a system of education in which religion can have no part. The church cannot afford for a moment to abate its efforts to permeate the whole system of education with the spirit and power of Christianity. Without a rapid development of Christian schools, we shall be hopelessly lost."

The past decade has witnessed the advance along educational lines among Northern Baptists in history, Dr. Padelford stated.

State Fair Flirt to Receive Jolt This Year
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee. — The flirt who parades the state fair grounds will have a chance to try his skill on the judge, if plans announced by Secretary Oliver E. Tume of the agricultural association are carried out. Women will be sworn in as special police, in addition to the regular force of 150 men. Their chief business will be to smash mashine. Incidentally they will aid in protecting lost children to parents and in directing women and children.

Spokane. — Following the example of the Bank of Shell Lake and the Lummen's State Bank, Shell Lake, the Bank of Spokane and the Spokane State bank have announced an increase in deposit rates from 4 to 5 per cent.

Badger Farmers Work for U. S. Laws on Filled Milk; Crops Are Maturing Fast

Results of important experiments carried on in Wisconsin to secure the passage of legislation in this state against the manufacture of filled milk are now being cited in the congressional hearings upon federal laws. Wisconsin men are in Washington seeking the passage of national laws which will tax the making of filled milk and also prevent it in interstate shipment.

Dr. E. V. McCollum, Madison, has been called upon to report upon the trials which he carried on at the Wisconsin station showing that pure dairy products supply the only nutritive foods likely to be used in sufficient quantity in the American diet to produce normal growth.

Passage of national legislation against substitute dairy products would benefit the national dairy interests materially, it is held.

Rally in Rhinelander.
Rock county will take part in the agricultural celebration to be held in Rhinelander on August 19 and 21. All Wisconsin counties employing county agents will participate.

There are 59 county agents in the state. Onondaga county was one of the first in Wisconsin to employ a county agent.

W. C. Coffey, who for years has been the head of the sheep department at the University of Illinois, and is well known in southern Wisconsin, has accepted the position as dean of the University of Minnesota Agricultural school. He has judged sheep at many Rock county events.

Rain Improves Crops.
Crops in northern Wisconsin have been seriously injured by a continuation of the hot dry weather, while those in southern Wisconsin have been improved as a result of the rain. The state crop service reports.

Grasshopper damage is adding to the seriousness of the situation in northern Wisconsin where the pests have over run the fields, he says. Winter grains are reported as ripening fast, with rye soon to be out with a fair yield, and winter wheat shivered by rust and lack of moisture. Spring grains are ripening too fast and are being attacked by rust.

Potatoes Ripening Early.
Corn made enormous growth during the week but needs rain badly, especially in the northern counties, the report brings out. Early potatoes are ripening in southern Wisconsin two weeks or more early with their stand and condition good. Late planted varieties in the northern counties, the commercial districts are coming up slowly with their stand dotted by rot drying of seed.

The yield of hay, cutting of which continues, with the interval of light, and the quality below average. Some second crop alfalfa is being cut in southern counties with a light yield.

Early tobacco is reported to have grown rapidly during the week and to be in danger of too early a harvest. The late planted tobacco is standing still because of dry soil conditions.

The harvest of early canning peas is completed with a light yield. While peas in southern counties have been saved by rain and in northern counties are at a critical stage of lack of moisture.

Farm Bureau Work.
The Green County Farm Bureau was temporarily organized at a county meeting held at Monroe June 24. Temporary officers were elected and town chairmen appointed.

New Wing to Cut Cost of Commercial Flying

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dayton, O. — Years of effort to cut down the comparatively high cost of commercial aviation will be realized, officials of the Dayton-Wright Airplane Company believe, with the patenting of a new wing, invented by an employee of the company. Patents now are pending in Washington. The wing will be controlled by the pilot, and in coming to earth can be so manipulated that it will arch, much as a bird's wing, enabling a practical, by undeviating glide to earth, instead of flying at various levels before alighting, it is stated.

No More Tractor Week-End Games Here This Season

EACH PLAYER PAID $10 OF OWN CASH FOR LAST 3 GAMES

Attendance at the last three games at the fair grounds of the Janesville Tractors, not including the booster day game, was so poor that each of the 11 players had to dig down in his pocket for $10.00 to pay the deficit. This announcement was made by the club Thursday. The loss on those games came to a total of $114.00, the report shows.

Against this, the club is said to have made about $1,100 on the recent trip through Illinois and $600 in the three games on the fourth of July. For these reasons the team has decided to take to the road, practically the rest of the summer, with an occasional week-day game at home. No more Saturday or Sunday games are planned, according to this statement, which reads:

"After a successful trip through Illinois and being gone three week-ends, the Janesville baseball club staged three games at home with the result that each player had to dig up $10.00 to pay the expenses incurred. The weather was all that could be asked for and the competition was the best of the year, so the only solution is that the fans of Janesville, either do not want a baseball club or there are not enough fans left in town to support a ball club.

No Week-End Games
"So the team has turned into a road club and will play on the road exclusively for the balance of the season unless a few week-day games are arranged. The boys have done all they could to merit the support given them by some of the fans but they cannot afford to amuse the public at Janesville out of their own pockets and receive nothing in return. The following figures will show the exact receipts and expenditures for the last three games played at home:

Game with Racine, June 25	$55.99
222 general admissions at 45c.	$99.99
143 grand stand tickets at 15c.	21.45
2 children at 10c.	1.00

58 LONG WALLEOPS: SOX GIVE TY TWO: RAIN FOR EGANS

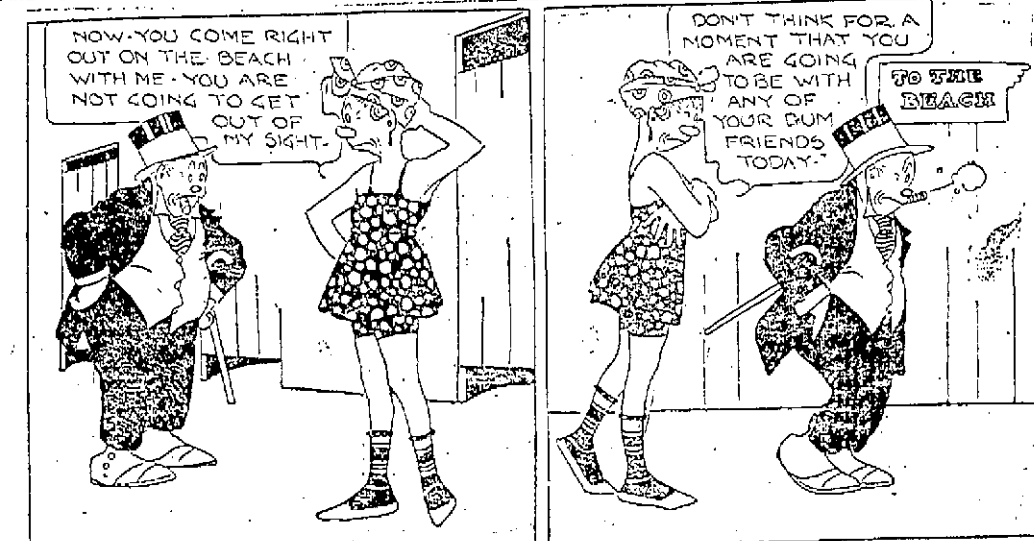

A total of 58 extra base hits were made in the majors and the association Thursday, 41 in the big leagues and 17 in the minor circuit. The big winner was the Sox in the big leagues, who had 12 extra base hits, 10 triples, and 24 doubles. The association boys made three home runs, one triple and 13 doubles.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis made 11 home runs, tried out by Glendon at Chicago Thursday to the great pleasure of Ty Cobb whose hitless streak of 10 games was broken by a home run and a triple. Oldham made a homer. There were 13 home batters and four triples. Philadelphia backed up Moore with brilliant fielding and a triple to win, 5 to 2. Three doubles and a triple were rung up.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
A home run by Schmidt in the tenth won, 7 to 6, for Brooklyn over New York. Olson of the Dodgers was put out of the game for disputing a decision. There were six triples and two doubles. St. Louis made 12 home runs in the seventh and eighth on 13 hits defeating Philadelphia, 15 to 2. While Oeschger held Cincinnati to six hits, Boston hit three of the enemy's pitchers for 13 bingles, winning, 8 to 2. Five extra base hits were chalked up.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Andrews Says Georges Did Rock Dempsey

Against all that Dempsey has said that he "never felt" the punch that rocked him in the second round of the title battle with Carpenter at Jersey City last Saturday, Tom Andrews, the Milwaukee pugilist expert, declares that if Georges had only followed up the punch the crown would now be on its way to France.

Andrews was at the ringside as the guest of Tex Rickard. In conversation with a Gazette representative Thursday, he declared: "That series of punches followed by the one that stunned Dempsey were made of the knockout stuff. If Carpenter had only possessed the ring generalship to sail right in and follow up with another heavy jab, he would have flattened the champion for the count. But instead he stopped back and when he did come in he held both arms up in front of him on guard. This gave Dempsey the chance for a clinch."

NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis, 12; Philadelphia, 2.
Boston, 8; Cincinnati, 2.
Brooklyn, 7; New York, 6 (ten innings).

TOURISTS SWARM YELLOWSTONE TRAIL; THOUSANDS DAILY

Oshkosh. — According to a census taken by the Winnebago county highway commission, 4,000 vehicles of all descriptions passed a given point on the Oshkosh-Pond du Lac state highway at the southern limit of Oshkosh on the fourth of July from 5 a. m. to 9 p. m. Of that number 3,520 were pleasure automobiles; 55 were trucks and 155 were motorcycles; 220 were motor-cars from outside the state, carrying touring parties, and nine were hotel-owned vehicles. It is believed the auto traffic on that road, officially known as route 15, was even greater than this on the two days before and after the fourth, on account of the large number of tourists going over the Yellowstone trail from Milwaukee to points in the Fox River valley and other places north of the fourth. It is estimated that 600 automobile parties have used the Oshkosh camp site at the municipal club house since the touring season opened.

DALY IS GETTING CHANCE AT LAST

Tom Daly, the only baseball player who ever hit a home run with a king looking on, has been a pinch player with the Chicago Cubs for four years. Things have broken for him so that he never could land a regular job, but he has been a valuable man to call on in an emergency. He has won fame as a substitute batter and he has done good work as first baseman and catcher for brief and separated spells. This year Daly, due to the injury of Bill Killefer, has been behind the bat in a number of games, sharing the work with O'Farrell, and he has demonstrated that for four years on the bench have not dulled him for he has caught good ball at all times. In fact, making due allowances for the worth of Killefer and O'Farrell, he has looked just as good as the run of catchers and has contributed his full part to such success as the Cubs have had.

WILL HE MAKE NEXT BID FOR TITLE?

Tommy Gibbons ready for the gloves and gong.

Tommy Gibbons isn't set to demand a chance at the heavyweight championship. He needs another year of prepping against the "run-of-the-mine" heavies to increase his knowledge of handling big opponents and perfect his punching. Gibbons has just grown into the heavy weight class. Until a year ago he was too light for the big class. Now, with added weight, which he put mostly in his shoulders, he is nearing the ideal size.

Women's Tandem Here Friday

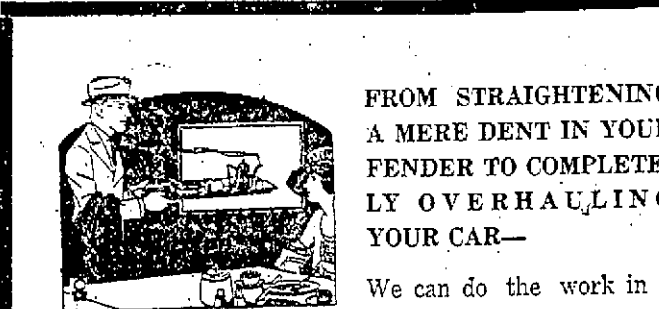

First of the season's women's tandem handicaps of the Janesville Country club will be played Friday. Under the rules any two players may double up. In scoring they add their totals and then deduct the sum of both their handicaps. Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. D. W. Holmes and Mrs. Harry Ellis.

BLACK HAWKS BOOK JOHNSTOWN AGAIN

Johnstown, the rural aggregation that has defeated all Janesville teams it has met this season, may come here again Sunday to play the Black Hawks. The game will be played under the effects of a 10 to 6 defeat suffered by the Hawks to this bunch a short time ago.

Harley-Davidson Play Willowdale Sunday

The Harley Davidson of this city are booked to play Willowdale here at the fair grounds at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Willowdale cancelled on Monday.

Condon's Transfers Play Porter Team Sunday

Condon's Transfers will journey to Cooksville Sunday to play the team of the town of Porter at that place at 8 a. m.

FIGHT AFTERMATHS

While in Chicago Thursday, Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, said that the reason Bill Brennan was able to stay 12 rounds was because Jack was "stale." He says there were so many changes in the fight date that he was caught, not properly trained.

Tex Rickard promoter of the Dempsey-Carp fight said Thursday in New York that until he is able to locate Tom Gibbons he will not be able to make any definite proposition to Carpenter about a fight next fall. A St. Paul dispatch says Gibbons is on a vacation at Osakis, Minn., until the middle of August, and will not talk until he returns. However, he said he hoped the scrap could be arranged.

Carpenter saw the pictures of the championship fight Thursday for the first time. His only comment was that they "showed a good fight." His manager, Deschamps, said it was evident from the pictures that Dempsey weighed nearer 135 pounds than the announced 135.

Governor Edwards of New Jersey said that boxing will keep on in Jersey despite the efforts of reformers. The answer was made to a question as to whether plans for a fight between Jack Johnson or Carpenter and Gibbons would be permitted.

"Jean" Rankin Wins the Tavern

Cleveland, O.—Making her initial start on the grand circuit, Jeanette Rankin raced like a veteran and won the $5,000 Tavern "Streak" for 2:14 trotters. The filly of George E. Dodely of Youngstown, O., which captured the event in two straight heats, was an overwhelming favorite in the betting.

Calli-Carel, the mare for which Fred Cline of Indianapolis is reputed to have paid $25,000, was never prominent.

PLUMBING 10 PERCENT UNDER 1920 RECORD

Plumbing activities in Janesville continue at about 10 per cent decrease from last year, according to reports of George W. Sligham, city plumbing inspector. In his report from June of this year he shows 119 permits issued against 131 in June 1920. 35 tests of inspections and $123.50 in fees for the past month.

Jack Against a Fight With Jack Johnson

Omaha, Neb. — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight pugilist, who passed through here Friday on his way to Salt Lake City, in a statement declared that he is willing to fight Jack Johnson "or any other negro fighter."

Jeffs Annex 1st Playground League Game

Despite a big inning by the Webster school in the Playground baseball league, when they scored 11 runs, the Jefferson aggregation nosed into a 15 to 14 victory at Webster's grounds Friday morning. A crowd of 50 people, including 15 adults, witnessed the battle which inaugurated one playground season. There was plenty of excitement as the "Jeffs" captured the up-hill contest.

Score by innings and lineup:
Jefferson — 2 2 0 6 0 4—15
Webster — 1 1 0 0 10 1—14
Jefferson (15): F. Foster (14), B. Peterson, 28, Howe, 17, Hopper, 17, Crain, 16, McKeligue, 28, S. Peterson, 28, A. Fard, 28, K. McMillan, 28, r. Cunningham, p. (Capt.)
Webster (14): J. O'Connor, Jr., Cullen, 26, Sullivan, 26, by Cunningham, 5.

MOOSE OF 5 CITIES TO PICNIC, JULY 31

The women's drill team of Madison will give an exhibition at a picnic at Bluff View park near Monroe, Sunday July 31, when Moose from Janesville, Edgerton, Madison, Monroe and Stoughton will join in providing a program of amusements. The Madison team took first place at the national convention in Toledo recently.

JACK DEMPSEY HAS SUCH A BIG HEART

Atlantic City, N. J.—That $300,000 that Dempsey and Jack Kearns got for 10 minutes and 15 seconds of fighting last Saturday will probably last them for a couple of lifetimes. That big heart that Dempsey boasts is the reason. When Dempsey and his manager, Kearns, left here the day before the Jersey City fight the latter turned to Mrs. Carrie Barrett, who had been a real "mother" to the champion for two months at the training camp, and remarked as he handed her a check: "Here is a surprise for you. Don't look at it until after we are gone."

WILCOX FIRST IN WITH ENTRY FOR STATE GOLF MEET

J. L. Wilcox has the honor of being the first of the Janesville golfers to make application for entrance into the state golf tournament to be held at Kenosha July 19-23. It is expected that perhaps 25 will enter the meet from the local country club.

It Started Something

"Your medicine is the talk of the town since pulling me from the grave. I have told dozens about it and I know of at least ten who are now taking May's Wonderful Remedy, all with good results. I never saw anything like it. One man who had been operated on for gall stones and had them come back, took it and says his symptoms are all gone and he swears he is cured." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. People's Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

'THE GIRL WHO HAD NO CHANCE'

By Marion Rubincam

CHAPTER LXXVIII.
THE JOURNEY.

The pause lasted a few moments. Lumsley's cigarette had gone out. He took a fresh one from the tin in his pocket, and lit it. He held the cigarette in his right hand, and with his left hand he gripped the back of the chair. He looked at the clock, and saw that it was twelve. He looked at the door, and saw that it was closed. He looked at the fire, and saw that it was burning. He looked at the clock, and saw that it was twelve. He looked at the door, and saw that it was closed. He looked at the fire, and saw that it was burning.

She looked long and Langley possessed. She went on with her horse.

"You've been so good to my friend to let me work and play to do what we've all sorts of interests in common. If friendship is a basis for love, we—well, we have that basis. Only—"

She paused, looking up at his face. She waited for her to go on.

"Of course, of course, it takes more than friendship to make a love affair—or a happy marriage. I'll admit it takes that. Perhaps friendship is even the most important element in love—but it isn't all. There's something else. Now, what is it?"

"It's that 'something' of which I think every poet and every writer has been trying to put into words for centuries. Perhaps it does not analyze."

"It's the thing that made me ready to give up everything I wanted to do or to be when Tim put his arms around me," she said, the red coming more strongly into her cheeks. "It's anything you say, but I know it's that, whatever that is. I'm not in love, and I would not want to marry."

She looked again at the strong, well-shaped hand which lay in the circle of lamplight on the table.

"You're a little more sentimental because we're here alone for the moment," she went on a little cruelly. "You aren't in love with me that way either. I know. If you had been, months ago when you were so well, and held me in your lap—the night when you died, do you remember?"

"I think you're only a child, after all," she remarked irrelevantly. "I have a special reason why I want you to go to New York, and to see Tim. But I'll not tell you what it is until you come home again."

She leaned back and fixing up at him she asked to see Tim.

"Tim?" she answered. "But I will tell you, and I won't ever tell anyone else. I am. Perhaps he was not so fine a man as you, perhaps he hasn't your ability, but he's a man. He's not so he hasn't had so much chance yet, and at present he has to earn a salary to take care of a wife and baby, so he has to play for money. Perhaps being tied down to a most routine life will do him good. I'm not so sure. I don't know."

"Perhaps Myra is going to kill his ability, for she wants only good times and she hasn't any ambition nor any great intellect. Tim has—and Langley, we were good friends, too. This is, we tremble at, a dreadful thing he told me to do and I told him the worst dreadful thing I wanted to do. He loved the art of music I did, he loved the serious books I read and I loved him. I'm sure we were good friends."

"But you said I had a basis of friendship with him that love too."

"So it had more." Her cheeks felt hot, but she went on bravely. "When he put his arms around me, I had all the good good things of the world to have for a man—and I wanted to marry him to make a happy marriage. We would have been—perfectly happy. Few married people and I was crying so—you would have kissed me. You didn't. It wasn't sentiment, you were just sorry for—"

"I was a little afraid to kiss you," she confessed naively.

Ruth looked up at him, suddenly not quite able to look as frankly into his eyes as she had been before.

"I have another proof it's only friendship," she said. "You've persuaded the Committee to send me to New York, and you want me to go alone. You know I'll see Tim again, and you know I have been in love with Tim for years, ever since we were children."

"You'll forget it all soon—"

"No, I think I'm the sort that loves once and only once." She said it are."

"And you wouldn't even want me to kiss you goodbye?"

"No. Let's just stay friends—Langley, dear. It isn't that sort of love on either your part or mine—but it's very sweet, whatever it is, and I'm glad I know you. I could not have lived through this other thing without you."

He held out his hand and she took it.

"But you'll be here—when I go back," she asked quickly.

"On the station platform to meet you."

And with that he left. And perhaps Ruth found herself in the sleeper, once more listening to the clinking of the wheels over the rails.

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 and have been keeping company with a young man. I dearly love and intend to be true to, but the other I don't care for at all and can't seem to get rid of him. I have told him and still he hangs around. Please tell me what to do.

The other boy tells me he loves me, but I have caught him in two lies and I don't like to hurt him by telling him I know he has lied to me. What shall I do about it? KEWPIE 18.

Keep saying "No" to the young man for as long as you do not care. Eventually he will wake up to the fact that you really do not want him.

It seems to me a very serious matter to be in love with a young man who does not respect the truth. It is only my wish to help you, but if he misrepresents now, but imagine how much worse you would feel if you were lied to by your husband. Do not pry into your friend's affairs and let him tell you what he or she is going with other girls, but when he deliberately tells an untruth and you know it, tell him that you would like him better if he respected you enough to tell the truth and nothing but the truth. You are rather young to be seriously in love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 15 years of age. My folks do not object to my going to school, but I am usually with one young man very much more than the other.

No, you were not to blame. You gave the young man plenty of time to call and since he did not arrive before 9 o'clock he owes you an explanation. Let him go unless he offers his own and offers you a satisfactory explanation.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A young man has invited me to go for a picnic with him on Sunday. I have never accepted, but I did not say anything about taking a lunch. What do you think I ought to do? JUNE.

Ask the young man if he would like to have you take the lunch. As rule the girl takes it, but sometimes the man has other plans.

I had a date with him the other night and he said he would call for me about 8 or 8:30. He didn't come and I waited until after 9 and then I went downtown with a girl friend. I saw him over at the swimming pool the next day, but I did not speak to him and that made him "sore."

I was "nervous" for a moment and now I am sorry. What shall I do? I really feel as though I am to blame,
